THE BACKGROUND

Located in Sussex County, New Jersey, The Newton Country Club has been a place to call home for golf enthusiasts for over 100 years. Since the establishment of the country club in 1916, it's been raving its noticeably challenging, yet playable course for golf masters and beginners alike. Apart from golfing, the Newton Country Club also boasts delicious food in a relaxing and cozy environment at the Grill Room, hosts private parties and events, and proudly hosts golf outings such as professional tournaments, and fundraisers.

The club's amenities boasted its excellence in all but one portion, the locker room, which needed to be re-assessed because of the constant moisture exposure. To elevate the country club's experience inside the main locker room to match the club's impressive amenities, Newton Country Club decided to replace their outdated and rusted metal restroom partitions with Scranton Products® Hiny Hiders® Partitions. When planning out the partition installation, Newton Country Club needed something with moisture resistance as well as added privacy without raising the budget and being able to engrave a design element with a raised panel look.
